

Practical Task 1

For me, Python is one of the best programming languages, so I chose it to study, which turned out to be not only a test for me but also a constant challenge and adventure. The course provides me with the opportunity to gain a lot of knowledge which is very important for my future career in software development. Bootcamp is a fairly intensive training program that provides a large amount of practical skills and knowledge in a short period of study. Bootcamp focuses on practical training, performing real tasks and completing real projects, and is also focused on solving problems that may arise in the workplace. I can use all these acquired skills and knowledge in the future in the professional field. The course covers a large number of different aspects and reveals the main capabilities of Python, gives an idea of writing competent, clean and easy-to-understand code that will be structured.

An important factor is an intensive study of the Git tool, which will open up more opportunities for me. At the moment, I strive for employment with a company that will be suitable for furthering my career and will provide me with the opportunity to use my skills and contribute to the company. In 3 years, I see myself as a max effective and useful employee at the senior level.

If you're not ready to apply for jobs yet or may even be currently employed and not looking for a new role right now but are hoping to achieve a promotion or new role working for your current employer. We still require you to identify relevant contacts and get into practice should you eventually look for a new role. However, we will NOT reach out to these employers on your behalf. Please also fill in the contact at your current company who would be involved in a change to tech.
